

Annalise Smith

FOR INTERNATIONAL PRESIDENT

I believe that every human, no matter what, is worthy and deserving of love and humanity.

On Valentine's Day of 07' Annalise was adopted and brought to America. Born in Changhua, Taiwan and raised in rural suburban Ohio, Annie understood the complications of intersectionality at a young age. Finding a place where she belonged was hard as she faced what seemed like a world full of hatred. Not only was she the only Asian girl in her school for many years, but she also found understanding her roots difficult as she felt too Asian and almost not Asian enough. The feeling growing up was often lonely and confusing, but as a result, Annie began to find a passion for caring for others and found that the world was not full of hatred, but full of love. Utilizing a mix of academic excellence and passion for others, Annie has taken many leadership roles, including the founding of a club for diversity and inclusion called the Minocracy Inclusion Club and leading her College's 2023 College Project, coined, Love Letter to Ourselves focused on the importance of Mental Health and Wellness.

I believe that every human, no matter what, is worthy and deserving of love and humanity. I constantly look to inspire others to always persevere, to love themselves and others, to speak to what they believe in, and to be authentically you. My main goals in office would be to exemplify PTK through listening to the voices of others and to encourage and illustrate a world of change.

A little about me

Love Letters to Ourselves aimed to encourage participants to find love for themselves in a new and abstract way. Each participant was instructed to write a love letter addressed to themselves; they later had the opportunity to share this letter with others. Many opted to leave their letter to help create a larger artistic display that's goal was to encourage others to practice loving themselves as well.

In Summer of 2023, I made the decision to graduate high school early as well as simultaneously graduate with my Associates of Science.
